HISTORY OF OUR BULBS

Col. Theodore Atkinson was given the land known as Atkinson by his uncle, Governor Wentworth. The Colonel was a commander of some renown during the French and Indian wars and served as collector of customs at Portsmouth. In 1748 he was appointed Secretary of the New Hampshire Colony.

Polly Peabody, daughter of Parson Stephen Peabody (one of the three founders of Atkinson Academy) entered that institution as a student. Her admission gave the Academy the right to claim the distinction as being the second co-educational academy in the country.

Caroline Orr (Orrie) was the Founder and Director of Trinity House Camp, which was located where the Atkinson Community Center is now, including the Conservation Land behind it. Orrie's strong personality was perfect for teaching the inner-city girls who attended this camp to be aware of the outdoors and the need to preserve it for the future and to be strong, independent and able to make wise decisions.

George Parsons Dow is the only Atkinson resident to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor which was awarded for his meritorious service in the Civil War. After the Civil War, Dow also served Atkinson as Postmaster and as Trustee and Treasurer of the Kimball Library.

Louise Barnum, a founding member of our Historical Society, compiled the written record of our history in the book "Atkinson Then and Now"

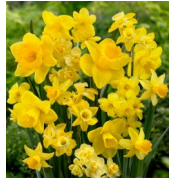

More historical information can be found from the Atkinson Historical Society and the Kimball Library.

Daffodil Project 2024

Throughout these challenging moments in time, all our lives have been touched in some way by a world in constant flux. Yet the daffodils still bloom.

We know that all the Atkinson Daffodils, planted over the years, have brought our community some sense of renewed wonder, some solace, some hope and even joy. Whether they found their places in our home gardens, at local businesses or along our beautiful Scenic Byway (Route 121 Main Street), they have thrived and shared their beauty with the world. Be it in small clusters, wild, vast swathes, or in our iconic, golden heart by the side of the road, they have prevailed - as have we!

Please help the Atkinson Garden Club to continue this project for our community. Together, let's keep the daffodils blooming!

All of these photos are available to you on our NEW collection of note cards. To purchase, please see our current order form
